It is among the probabilities that the decision of the Council may not be reached for several days. This Sunday saw no convening of the Council proper. This does not mean that the agencies were not at work. The Council last night put into the hands of Grand Secretary Debs, of the Brotherhood of Firemen, Vice-Grand Master Morrissey, of the Brotherhood of Trainmen, and Vice-Grand Master Downey, of the Switchmen's Mutual Aid Association, the delib erations of the Council, and they will pre-pare certain propositions to be presented to the Council, which will define the action of the Supreme Lodge. This committee has been in session since 8 o'clock last evening. The members separate only to take what may be strictly named as ing books and papers which not only bear on the threatening general strike on the Vanderbilt system, but he is compelled to look over his work as regards the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen. An Associated Press correspondent called at Sargent's house this afternoon, and Sargent was as frank as usual. He had carefully read Powderly's letter to Webb, sent out last night. While Sargent would not expectation of the sargent would not expectation.

last night. While Sargent would not express any opinion as to the action the Council would take on the report of the committee, yet he freely expressed himself about Powderly's missive. He said:

"I admire Powderly's stand. Powderly puts Webb in the position he belongs, and which, when the public thoroughly understand it, will convince it that Webb is wrong. Webb's position is directly opposite to that taken by Depew, his superior officer. Depew always advocated the organization of labor."

To sus ain this statement Sargent gave To sustain this statement Sargent gave the Associated Press reporter the following extracts from an address delivered by Depew at a meeting of the Firemen's Brotherhood held at Tammany Hall, May 15, 1887. Said Depew at that time:

Said Sargent: "The Knights of Labor have taken an active part in legislative affairs in the State of New York during the past year. Much of this legislation being directly in the interest of the railway emoloyes, and the New York Central being one of the largest corporations that would and many of its employes going before the Assembly in behalf of bills presented, and the fact that some of the men discharged by the New York Central were participating in this effort to bring about the passage of these labor bills before the New York Legislature, shows plainly that the company is antagonizing the Knights of Labor in its present action, for had the men been ischarged for drunkenness, breach of discipline and such causes as are now claimed by Webb, he would not hesitate one mo ment to have an investigation. I am sur-prised that men who had been in the employ of the New York Central for eleven or twenty years should now be dismissed on account of character. It is a sad commentary on the management of the road.
"In the course of the address delivered by Depew Sunday, May 25, 1889, shortly be-fore the Director sailed for Europe, he said to the meeting of Brotherhood Engineers at New Haven: 'There are a few things about the relation of the President to the employes of the road which I would like to We both draw our salaries from the same treasury. No Immediate Prospect of a Settlemen of the Difficulties. CHICAGO, August 24th .- The strike of the firemen and engineers of the Stock Yards' firemen and engineers of the Stock Tarus-Switching Association for an increase in wages is still on, with possibly a decided aggravation of difficulties. The modified demands submitted by the strikers at yesterday's conference were communicated to the roads by the Switching Association, with the expectation that the former would return an answer to the strikers. This exctation, however, was not fulfilled. This evening the strikers have been in conference with the officers of the organizations of the engineers, firemen and switchmen, and it is their hope that the latter will espouse their cause, and tie up every road entering the stock yards, in case

The Baltimore Will Bear Them Native Land.

New York, August 23d .- The remains of John Ericsson, the inventor, started for Swe den, his native land, to day.

The pageant in this city was one of the grand, stever seen since Grant's funeral. There were no hitches, no delays, and everything went like clockwork. Six American seamen, six of the original sail-ors who se ved on the monitor built by Cricsson de ring the war, acted as pallbearers and a arried the casket to the hearse. Whenever the procession passed in front of a church, no matter of what denomination; bells tolled a requiem to the memory of the great Swedish-American who was being-carried away. All along the route the streets were thronged with people, and uncovered heads were bawed in respect to the precious contents of the hearse. When the precession arrived at the pier the remains were at once carried on board the tugboat Nina, which, preceded by the steam launches of the fleet; proceeded to the United States ship Baltimore.

Secretary Tracy and other officers and guests on board the Nina were received n board the Baltimore by Captain Schley, the Swedish Minister, being represented by his secretary, Baron de Fries. The remains of Captain Ericsson were hoisted aboard the boat and the casket placed on the quarter deck. Everyone stood with uncovered head, while Mr. Robinson, one of the exe-cutors of Captain Ericsson's estate, deliv-ered a brief address, delivering the remains to the care of Captain Schley. He said:
"It is my honorable duty to commit to your care the body of Captain Ericsson, to convey it to the land that gave him birth. We hold in grateful remembrance the services he has rendered his adopted country for fifty years, and we now give his re-mains to the land of his birth. No one wrought greater things in naval warfare than did he." Captain Schley, in reply, said he appreciated the honor conferred upon him, and made a few remarks eulogistic of the memory of Captain Ericsson and the services to the country. Secretary Tracy held a few minutes' conversation with the officers of the Baltimore and then the visitors returned to the Nina. The Baltimore got under way, the Nantucket fired 100 guns from a battery of howitzers and the Balti-more went down the line with the Swedish erican flag at her stern, both being at half

Poverty Drives Him to Bow Subratision to the Queen.

LONDON, August 24th .- Ex-Maharriah ouleep Singh's apologies and submission to Queen Vistoria are wholly dictated by poverty and disappointment. Owing to the instigation of a well-known Irieli leader, Duleep, four years ago, renounced his loyalty, dectared his hostility toward the British Crown, and placed himself in the hands of Eussia, as an instrument for whatever designs Russia might develop against India. The St. Petersburg Govern-ment welcomed him, made him a substantial allowance for his expenses, but kept him from court, carefully avoiding actions of serious responsibility, the time not being ripe for fomenting trouble against England Two years ago Russia intimated to Duleep that he was not particularly wanted and Duleep sought refuge in Paris. Meanwhile the British stopped Duleep's pension, devoted a part to the payment of his debts and assigned a portion to Du-leep's neglected children, the balance having accumulated to the amount of many thousand pounds. Duleep now hopes to secure this balance. The track of the Central Road is by Eastern experts pro nounced one of the best laid and best stocked in the United States, and it is therefore admirably adapted to use by rapid transit cars. In fact, while the electrical cars in San Jose are successful, the track over which they run most of the distance is too light, too narrow, and is illadapted to rapid motion and easy riding. We have reason, therefore, to expect far greater success over the broad gauge, heavy rails of the Sacramento road.

We hope to see the day soon when horses for motive power will be abandoned on all three of the Sacramento lines and electricity or compressed air substituted. As discoverv and science now stand in relation to each other as motive powers for car lines, electricity is first, compressed air and cables second, steam third and horses last. With horses in use, therefore, on level roads and in a warm climate, we are at the rear of the running of cars and by increased carriage for Business On the 8th of next month there will be a meeting at Galt of the stockholders of the is the coloring of the grapes.

WATER FOR THE PLAINS. The Galt Irrigation Company Preparing

Galt Irrigation Company The promoters A great deal of work has been done in Galt Irrigation Company. The promoters of this enterprise, which was started about a year ago for the purpose of diverting the waters of Dry creek on a large section of country for irrigation purposes, are greatly ncouraged at present by capitalists who have decided to advance large sums of money by which the work of building the ditches will be immediately pushed to completion.

Referring to the company and its prospective operations, the Galt Gazette says:
"The shortage of crops in this section this season places the farmers in a most embarrassing position. They will have nothing to show for their year's labor. There has been less than one-fourth of a crop raised here. Something must be done to ameliorate the condition of things. Wheat-raising is proving to be less remunerative each year, and the farmers will be compelled to direct their attention to the production of other and more profitable crops than wheat or barley.
"To be enabled to branch out into diversified farming both from an agricultural and horticultural standpoint, the first and chief essential agency required is an abundance of water for irrigation purposes. With a sufficiency of water our farmers can raise anything and everything. A farmer can make a better living, save more money, and have a happier home, on twenty acres of land, well cultivated and subject to thorough irrigation, than he can upon his 160 acre tract the way he is used to farm-

Years ago Mr. Felter and his partners took out a great deal of coal at the place named, and at the time they were working the claim supplied a blacksmith named Palmer who had a shop in Folsom. They expended a great deal of money in the enterprise, and would have succeeded in developing a good mine, as the supply there seem inexhaustible, but transportation facilities were not easy of access, and other causes impelled them to let the matter go by. Now everything indicates that the mine will be reopened and developed and a thriving industry built up. Season's Rains. The same may be said of the pear crop, which is also very large. Captain Aull has an enormous crop on his orchard near town, and has already shipped several carloads East, with more to follow. He has realized a snug little sum from them. The fruit that usually matures late in the season will be abundant, and in many instances a large quantity of the young green fruit had to be picked to prevent the overloaded limbs from breaking off.

The Little Black Bottle.

We hear of a romantic gold discovery near Sly Park last week. It seems that on Friday or Saturday Max Brieger' and an Italian were at work with a cross-cut saw. and had cut a log nearly in two, when the saw struck a bottle lying in the ground, dulling the tool considerably. The Italian swore at the bottle in the orthodox fashion, and picking it up, he threw it on the other side of the log where Brieger was at work. By and by the latter stepped on the bottle and his foot slipping he almost fell. Seiz ing the offending bottle he was about to break it on the log, when its unusual weight attracted his attention, and on examining it he found that it contained a large quantity of gold dust, estimated by some at $1,000, though this may be exaggerated. Seven ounces of gold dust from the find have been sold at the Pleasant Valley store, it is said, but not in amalgam.

Coyotes on the Cosumnes The Galt Gazette says that John Quiggl and "Pap" Barnhardt were up to Thomas McConnell's place last week after covotes. t seems that the coyotes got the better o the dogs, and the hunters were forced to re-tire. Mr. Quiggle is determined, however to kill the coyotes, and has sent to the mountains for a couple of trained dogs to assist his own in the next hunt. He says the covotes at McConnell's are the larges he has ever seen, and are also the most de-termined fighters, and that a deg has no show in the world with one of them on account of the thick underbrush in the river, where they seek cover.

At the Arroyo Seco gravel mine, since he completion of the new steam derrick work has progressed very satisfactorily. A large pit has been opened and pay grave about 50 by 20 feet in extent stripped. The work of washing the grave has been going on this week and daily "clean-ups" are made. As an illustration of how plentiful the gold is in places, perintendent Frates informs us that three pansful taken from a portion of the pit for trial yielded the handsome sum of $25, $19 and $13. It's quite a distance down to pay dirt, but the gold is there.—Ione

An Ex-Gaitite's Luck. Frank Pollard, formerly of Galt, in this county, but now one of the "Upper Ten" of Yreka, recently fell heir to a large for tune bequeathed to him by a wealthy uncle in Amsterdam named Meyerhoffer, recently deceased. He is going into the mining business in Siskiyou county, and among the principal claims in which he is interested is the Anniefried mine, considered the richest diggings in the northern mining

The Search for Pretty Wives. Girls to be successful to-day, must have something more than pretty features. The men who are worth marrying are looking for something else than pretty faces, coy manners or fetching gowns. They are recognizing full well that women are pregressing at a pace which will quicken, rather than slacken. They realize that the woman of to-morrow will be brighten bor. Beauty is being considered an adjunct to common sense. "I want a wife who knows something, who is worth having for what she knows; not one of these social butterflies," said one of the greatest "catches" of the last New York season to me at the winter's close. And he expressed the sentiments of thousands of the young men of to-day. The scent for pretty wives is over, and the look-out for bright young women has begun. And the girl who to-day trains her mind to knowledge will be the woman of to-morrow.— Edward W. Bok, in Ladies' Home Journal

A BUSINESS PROPOSITION. A City Lady Who Required Proof Before Believing.

There recently appeared in the San Francisco Call, Chronicle, and Examiner, a proposition hitherto unheard of. It was an advertisement in which the Edwin W. Joy Company, in proof of the curative properties of Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla, offered to submit it to the terrific test of "no cure no pay." Many accepted, and their experiences are so convincing as to be almost beyond belief. Here is another, written under date January 6, 1890: -

January 6, 1890:—

DEAR SIRS: I accepted your offer to test the merits of your vegetable remedy in sick headaches, and called for a bottle and got it. I had been troubled for a long time, and had tried nearly everything, with little or no effect; but Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla acted almost like magic, and the first bottle relieved me from one of the worst cases of sick headache one ever had.

THE HAPPY VIENNESE. The Austrian Government and People as Seen by an American.

[Correspondence of the Washington Star.] Es giebt nur eine Kaieser Stadt, Es giebt This is the old refrain that has for years, ever since Haydn, charmed the Austrian and Stuttgart have their attractions, but not one of them has that indescribable abandon and primitive hospitality that is peculiarly characteristic of the Viennese Music, song, beer and cheer are the stars that revolve around the axis of their exist ence, and to live free from care, to-morrov being blotted out of their dictionary, is the hight of their ambition. No wonder they are jolly and fat, and it is easy to account for the chic of the women.

But this condition produces startling re sults. Out of 100 births 40 are born out side of wedlock. The State looks calmly on, as it did in the days of Maria Theresa only disturbed when the average male pro duction fails to fill the ranks of the army In this one particular Vienna even sur passes Paris, a distinction that does not shake the pride of the average Austrian. "Honest and ignorant as an Austrian," is a common phrase, and we have had numerous instance while on our travels. "Our fathers did so and so, and we, therefore must do so," seems to be their motto.

The spirit of progress and evolution finds little recognition. Yet they are happy and contented, have a royal city, full of tall, elegant and costly buildings a splendid Opera House, worthy of any city, in which the works of the masters are reproduced with a fidelity worthy of all praise, a "Stephans Kirche" or cathedra that can vie with St. Paul's and Notre Dame. Statues erected to the memory of its great men of the past that are not scarecrows, and a "Schatz Kammer" that contains enough dead capital, relics and gems, to make thousands of povertystricken people happy, and a Belvedere or art gallery that has hundreds of old masters, and the arrangements of the interio of which surpasses that of Dresden. There is an exhibition here at present—semi-international-which is very good indeed The agricultural and mining products of the country and adjacent countries are lavishly displayed and artistically arranged and give evidence of prosperity and commercial enterprise. The objects of interest in and about Vienna are famous; the Kahlenberg, a mountain view that you reach by elevated rail, is well worth visit ing, while lovely Schoenbrun, the home of the great monarchs of the past, and made doubly renowned by its occupancy by Napoleon, is as ever a gem set in green emeralds and sparkling diamonds.

The only and original Strauss is now with us green Americans. Here they laugh at our crazy adulation, for there are a score of composers and leaders who are considered his superiors, but, as our im-mortal Barnum has said: "The American loves to be humbugged." It is delicate ground to give a reason for many of the onservative "Sleepy Hollow" ways of these people, but it can be told without meaning or giving offense. The Church is supreme; it leads and distates, the State follows and obeys. It is an object lessor for many of our own countrymen, and especially our own countrywomen, and l was never more forcibly impressed with the grandeur and wisdom of our institu-tions than during this European trip, and God forefend that any of our children should live to see our country fall into European ruts. The military demands sap every foundation and exhaust every fount. A country where a woman is a mere drudge and where an aged matron and a young child are used as beasts of burden is no country for any decent American to fall in love with. Every essential of manly and with. womanly independence is stifled; the spirit of obedience and subserviency dominates and is supreme. The character that grows out of the "Frinkgeld" surroundings can never be an elevated one; it is pretty narrow and local and lacks that broad, cosmo politan spirit which grasps the demands of the hour. Our grammar school children know more, think quicker, are more practical than two-thirds of the older peopl of Europe. White I was writing this letter a piece of paternal government was made known to me. July 14th I sent from Berlin to Washington a cablegram; it seems I paid 1 mark and 5 pfennig a word, when the tariff is $1 20. To-day I was called on by our Consul-General, who had been officially informed to collect from me the 36 cents I owed the Government! Now the question arises, had I paid too much would I have been as closely followed? Speaking of Consuls-General, I cannot speak too highly of our official here. Julius Goldschmidt, although only one year in office, is beloved by all. He is intelligen and energetic and has, against great odds won the respect of the exporters. The result of his work is a largely increased revenue and an honest, clean administration of consular duties. Colonel Fred Grant, our Minister, is absent; I understand he is generally liked. Mr. Chew. Secretary of Legation, an old Washingtonian, received us kindly. In this con nection I cannot forego the question so often asked, Why has the United States no home of it own in the different capitals of Europe? The State Department allows 20 per cent. of the salary for rent, when it could own a building, the interest of which would not be over 3 per cent., thereby raising and dignifying the position of ou officials saving 17 per cent., or giving the poorly paid Consuls and Ministers the benefit, for they are wretchedly paid. The Consuls-General at Berlin and Vienna are hard worked, driven from early morn to late in the day by hundreds of merchants. They have no bed of roses, and if they do their duty, no sinecure; then the cost of living in both places is very high. Germany and England outshine us, because they have trained foreign officials, and the sooner we have them the better for us. We have learned so much in the short time of our political existence, we can learn more The American is liked and sought abroad his liberal ways are like an oasis, and the influence we spread is wholesome and far

Adam of St Victor.

Adam de St. Victor, who died in or near the year 1180, was the most fertile and one of the greatest of all the Latin hymn writers of the Middle Ages. Dr. J. M. Neale and Archbishop Trench each greatly admired his poetry; and Trench's collection of hymns contains some excel-lent examples of Adam's work. He was one of the Victorines, or monks of the Augustinian Monastery of St. Victor, near Paris. This monastery was, in the twelfth century, the headquarters of that pietistic mysticism which arose as a protest against the dialectical and dry scholastic divinity of the time. It had a wide influence in promoting popular devotion throughout Western Europe. The other principal Victorine writers were the eminent Hugh de St. Victor (1096-1141—whose writings greatly influenced St. Bonaventura-1221 4-Pierre d'Ailly and John Gerson) Richard of St. Victor and Walter de St Victor. Hugh was a Fleming or Walloon and was the founder of "Summists," a set of theologians so named from his "Summa Sententiarum." Richard (d. 1173) was the prior of his abbey, and a Scotchman by birth. Walter was distinguished by the hatred and contempt he exhibited for the dialecticians and "Summists" alike, the principal of the Summists of his time being the celebrated Peter Lombard, called "the master of sentences." - American Notes and Queries.

Maxwell Evarts, the youngest son of Senator Evarts, has been appointed Assistant United States District Attorney in New York City. The young man appears to be well qualified for the place. He graduated at Yale in 1884, and two years later finished a course of study at the Harvard Law School. Since then he had been introduced to the actual practice of law in the office of Seward, Da Costa & Guthrie. Senator Evarts nearly forty years ago was United States District Attorney for the New York district.

terday-The Gas City Team Gets Its Second Wind.

Not content with defeating the Sacramentos at Banner Island Park yesterday morning, the Stocktons came with them over here to Snowflake Park and gave the Senators another walloping in the late afternoon. How the unfortunate Stocktons must have relished these two victories; They had been playing ever since the Fourth of July trying to down the Senators, and their long-desired chance came only yesterday. It is to be hoped that yesterday's victories are the beginning of a succession of winnings by the team, and that they will keep up the good work until the club occupies a respectable position in the race for the pennant.

The attendance at the game was very Totals. poor, the crowd being probably the smallest that has this season occupied the grand stand at a Sunday ball game. It is safe to say that the majority wanted to see Stock-ton win the game, having confidence in the home team's ability to come out winner at the end of the season.

The Stocktons started right in to play ball of a superior order, and kept it up during the entire game. They were never headed by the Sacramentos, and instead of falling down they kept steadily increasing their lead, and won the contest handly by a score of 8 to 3.

The visitors had their men back in the old positions, bringing Fudger in to do shortstop work, Wilson to guard the third corner, and Armstrong to receive Perrott's twisters. They played a magnificent game throughout, and their heavy batting, which came in at the proper time, won them the

Two runs decked their score in the first inning, and this gave them confidence, for with such a man as Perrott in the box, two tallies must be considered a fine start. One more was added in the second, one in the fourth, two in the sixth, and the rest in the eighth inning. This number was just five too many for the Senators, for they could only rake together three in the second, fourth and eighth innings.

Perrott was hit safely only four times, while Harper was gauged for fifteen basehits. At least eight of these, however, were what the sharps call "scratches"—slow hits, or hard chances, for which it would hardly be proper to give in fidence. would hardly be proper to give infielder

McHale was behind the bat for the Sac-ramentos, and he clearly showed want of practice. Bowman had been suddenly injured, and it was a case of necessity for "Bob" to receive Harper's delivery. His work was by no means poor, but then at times he was uncertain and allowed passed balls, which proved disastrous.

Armstrong's backstop work could not have been improved upon. He caught a better game than ever before in Sacramento, and he certainly could not have done more effective work in any previous con-

MILITARY RIFLE SCORES.

Patrick Carroll, of the Awkward Squad For the first time in nine months the members of Company G faced their old targets yesterday at the Twelfth-street 200yard range. The grounds were overflowed jumping the entire crowd. They started in at the four-foot mark, and as the tape was raised the contestants dropped out until only Arthur Arnold, Campbell and Whitmore were left. Arnold and Whitmore quit at the five-foot-two mark, but Campbell kept on until he had cleared the five-foot-six mark. He is a very promising jumper, as well as a runner, and with practice should be able to hold his own with by the high water of last winter, and the ambitious marksmen deprived of their usual weekly diversion of making bull's-Stockwell played in right field. He gauged two flies correct, but had to allow an error to slip into his score by failing to field a ground ball properly.

The feature of yesterday's shoot was the score of Private Pat Carroll, which is represented at the bottom of the list. This was Mr. Carroll's first introduction to the target, and being of a modest and retiring disposition he did not wish to be too familiar. He has the honor of breaking the mold, Merkewitz, Brusie, MacMillin, Johnleather-medal record, however:

later Dorr was passing the aquarium and ily life! was grieved to see his pet catfish off in one "See s corner, lying over on its side, its eyes rolled back in its head and the very picture of misery. Dorr thought the fish was dying from nicotine poisoning. It wouldn't move when touched, but simply turned its eyes and looked sadly up at its master. Its symptoms were unmistakably those of nauses, and Dorr expected to see the last of his pet in a short time. In the course of an hour or so, however, the fish began to show signs of improvement and was soon able to swim about, but it was very feeble the rest of the day. The next day it was as well as ever.

Dorr experimented on it with tobacco again, and to his surprise the fish took it this time without hesitation, and began chewing with evident enjoyment. It retired to the corner of the aquarium and chewed and rolled the quid about in its mouth with as perfect contentment as a cow exhibits when chewing her cud. This time the catfish did not swallow either the juice or the tebacco, and by the time it had extracted all the essence of the quid the water was yellow with tobacce juice all around the fish. When the catfish had chewed the quid long enough to satisfy him he spat it out. He wasn't sick after this trial, and during the course of the day this time without hesitation, and began

Since then the fish has become a confirmed slave to the tobacco habit, and if he don't get his chew at regular intervals his nerves seem all upset, and he tears around in the water and frets and worries until in the water and frets and worries water and water and worries water and water and worries water and water and worr then he settles down in his corner and chews in as masterly a manner as a rural whirligigs of time. DO DOGS HAVE MIND? Strange Stories of the Power of Magnetism Over Dumb Brutes. [From the London News.]

Even Mr. Jingle and Mr. Jesse never thought of applying animal magnetism to sporting dogs. But this is part of "The Scientific Education of Dogs" as practiced and taught by "H. H.," whose book is published by Messrs. Sampson & Low. "I have held a lot of dogs by the magnetic power of will from doing wrong hundreds of yards away from me,' says "H. H.," and he adds that if he unbent his mind by making a remark to a friend the spell was broken.

Even Mr. Jingle and Mr. Jesse never thought of applying animal magnetism to solomon's Temple, and even the mouldering body of the Evangelist itself, which reposes beneath its pall of gold and jewels below the high altar, and taught by "H. H.," whose book is published by Messrs. Sampson & Low. "I have held a lot of dogs by the magnetic power of will from doing wrong hundreds of yards away from me,' says "H. H.," and he adds that if he unbent his mind by making a remark to a friend the spell was broken.

Pzars' soap is the purest and best soap ever made

Way back, men say, to Solomon's Temple, and even the mouldering body of the Evangelist itself, which reposes beneath its pall of gold and jewels below the high altar, would have to migrate to the community from which it was first filched, the Coptic Coks.—White soft to day, at $1.00, Even Mr. Jingle and Mr. Jesse never remark to a friend the spell was broken. It cannot be the power of the human eye he thinks, that acts thus, for how can th eye act at a quarter of a mile's distance He might shut his eyes and try if the magnetic power still lasts. "To be a first-rate dog-breaker a man must have lots of animal magnetism," which, according to the philosopher, is developed by force of will. But what is will, or is it a form of "mag-

Even in dog-breaking we reach at once the debatable land of metaphysics and are embarked on Schopenhauer's speculations before we know it. Of animal magnetism exercised by the rider on the horse little need be said. The man may influence the beast by contact unconsciously, not by "will force." It is different when "H. H." turns a distant dog from a particular corner of a field by simply "wishing" with all his force. The whip and the will had better be kept separate, as much as may be, and some dogs answer to the will which merely sulk under the whip. The cleverest of "H. H.'s" dogs was a retriever. He was fishing in her company, caught his fly on a stump of the opposite bank, sent the retriever across the water for it, and she brought it safely. When a friend's fly caught in the bough of a willow, some feet above the water, the dog swam across, climbed into the top of the bush, jumped fastened on the bough as she fell, bit i through and restored the tackle. The dog was sent for a wounded mallard, which was swimming below the ice. She ran eight yards down stream, broke a hole in the thin ice, and waited like a cat at a mouse hole. There she caught the mallard as he came up to breathe. If this was not reasoning, what is reason? But some other power must have been exercised in the following case: "H. H." left his dog at the front door of a house, with a friend to watch its proceedings. He himself left the house by the aid of a ladder set against a high window in the back and walked away. The dog began to be uneasy as soon as the master had thus escaped, and was with him in five minutes. Could he have been guided by smell or was he attracted by animal magnetism If the human mind can really influence that of a dog from a distance, the force which we call mind must be common to man and beast, and "in that equal sky" retrievers may keep "H. H.'s" company.

The attention of Mr. Romaines and of the Psychical Society, as well as the study of sportsmen, should be given to "H. H.'s" His anecdote of how the dog insulted the cockney is excellent, but a little in the manner of Dean Swift. We are only beginning to study the psychology of animals, and yet it may be the proper starting point of those investigations.

CROSS PEOPLE.

Are They Not Worse Than Wicked Peo ple in the House? [From Harper's Bezaar.

"I believe," exclaimed a bright woman one day, "that I would rather have a really wicked person in the house, if he would only be good-natured, than to live with the best one who was cross." This was extreme, but anyone who has ever endured the society of an irritable companion for many days will feel a sympathy with even this strong statement. such a companion is a species of torture. It sometimes seems as though almost every duty were more forcibly impressed upon the young than the duty of amiabil-In many quarters this virtue is absolutely at a disadvantage. The cross ones are likely to get a reputation for greater ability than the pleasant ones. "Fools," we are told, "are always amiable." We plead for a reform, and so pleads everybody who happened to be in a certain house in an inland town, where a handsome and fashionable young woman was stopping with an aunt who had every claim upon her tenderest consideration. "Are you going out to the cliff?" the young woman would demand of her aunt.

The movement is a very peculiar one. Its machinery is piled up in an odd-shaped bunch, which is surmounted by an elaborately engraved shield. The name of the maker is not shown on the movement or on either of the cases, but a piece of work, evidently inserted in repairing, bears the inscription: "Jam's Ilbery, London." Within the outer case is a circular piece of paper, on which is printed a coarse wood cut, surrounded by the inscription: "A. Heickle, patent lever watchmaker, St. James street, 69, Liverpool."

The history of the watch is well authenticated. It descended to Mr. Hopper from Professor Glover, an English educator and naturalist, who was an enthusiastic collector of antiquities. Professor Glover was a direct descendant of the Cromwell family and possessed ample proof that the watch was worn by the Protector.

Ages of Man and Wife.

It is always better for a man to be several years the senior of his wife. And I'll tell you why. The average girl who marries—God bless her—stays at home, and makes a home a blissful abiding place for her husband and her children. The man goes out into the world and has the respectively.

THIS INSTITUTION WILL RE-OPEN FOR I the next scholastic term, Monday, 11th inst.

The pupils will find it to their advantage to be present at the formation of the classes.

This Academy is situated in one of the most healthy sections of Solano county, and being on an employee in the rest of the town receives an eminence in the rear of the town, receives, through a break in the Montezuma hills, the cool, refreshing breezes from San Francisco bay; thus making the climate a most agreeable and healthful one. The thoroughly furnished classrooms well appointed dormitories, music-rooms, studios, exercise grounds, etc., together with the advanced course of learning and varied accomplishments, in which young ladies are so desirous to excel, have attracted students from far and near. From nearly every county pupils have been received, among whom are young far and near. From nearly every county pupils have been received, among whom are young ladies from Siskiyon. Tuolumne, Los Angeles, San Jose and even Nevada. Several of the former pupils are engaged in teaching, both in public and private schools—the Academy being incorporated is entitled to confer academic honors. This year, Dress-making, with cutting and fitting, will be taught at the Academy to those who desire it, also, Cooking in all its branches by an excellent French cook. Besides the common English branches, Stenography, Type-writing, Instrumental and Vocal Musie, Photograph Drawing, Pastel, Painting in Oil and Water Colors, also Painting on Porcelain, are taught, in all of which the pupils show much taught, in all of which the pupils show much proficiency.

Every advantage is given to the students, not only to enable them to pursue an academic course, but also to train them in the duties which will fit a young lady to take her place in the social as well as the domestic circle, and to become a source of comfort to her parents and an ornament to society.

The institution is sufficiently removed from the large cities to be a cuiet studious home for

The institution is sufficiently removed from the large cities to be a quiet, sudious home for all those who desire such for their children.

There are two boats daily from San Francisco and Sacramento—one leaving Jackson st wharf at 11 A. M., the other from Market st. wharf at 1 P. M. The fare is $1, and the boats are comfortable and have kind and obliging officials. The terms of this school are very moderate, considering the advantages the pupils enjoy.

A magnificent "Stars and Stripes" floats over the exercise grounds since July 4th—it. as well as the entire institution, being the gift of noble, generous Mr. and Mrs. J. Bruning to the Sisters, who have charge of the establishment. who have charge of the establishment.
